TRUSTEES' MEETING.

All members present. Demands as follows referred to the finance committee:

Glendale Light and Power Co., lights for August, $51.50; T. W. Doyle, work on assessment roll, $25.00; R. E. Chase, salary as health officer for year, $50; E. R. Tarling, license collector, $13.95.

Demands previously referred to finance committee, amounting to $449.38, were reported favorably and ordered paid.

The City Marshal was instructed to ascertain why the electric light at the intersection of Fourth and Glendale avenue, is not in use.

The report of the city engineer on bids received for the improvement of Fourth and Fifth streets, was read and placed on file. The report shows that F. W. Whittier is the lowest bidder on both streets.

A resolution of award of contract for improvement of a portion of Fourth street to F. W. Whittier, the lowest bidder, was then adopted.

Similar action taken in regard to a portion of Fifth street.

A petition was received asking that in the matter of the improvement of First street, all of said street be included in the proceedings. The city engineer reported that if all the street was included the petition would not represent a majority of the frontage, but that from Glendale avenue to Verdugo Road, a majority had been signed. The report was received and the engineer instructed to prepare an estimate of cost for improving First street from Glendale avenue to Verdugo Road, and the city attorney instructed to prepare the necessary resolution of intention to improve this street under the ten-year bond act.

The application of T. W. Doyle for position of treasurer and tax and license collector, was referred to committee of the whole.

The clerk reported that the assessment roll for the fiscal years 1907-1908 was completed and had been tendered to the tax collector.

A motion was passed at this time that when the meeting adjourned it be until 8 a. m., Thursday morning following.

Reports of building inspector from March 21st, 1907, to August 31st, 1907, was received, read and placed on file.

Report on the improvement of Brand boulevard below Sixth street, was deferred.

Trustee Watson reported that the matter of cars standing on the alley back of the lumber yard had been satisfactorily adjusted.

The marshal was instructed to post signs where the same may be necessary, calling attention to the ordinance prohibiting driving across sidewalks and curbs.

The clerk was instructed to communicate with the owner of the building known as the "City Hall," requesting that the walls inside be tinted and the woodwork repainted.

An ordinance, No. 55, amending an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending an Ordinance entitled 'An Ordinance regulating the constructing, altering, repairing and removing of buildings in the City of Glendale,'" was taken up, passed third reading and adopted.

Ordinance No. 56, "An Ordinance prohibiting expectorating in public places," was taken up for third reading and adopted.

Ordinance No. 57, prohibiting gambling in the City of Glendale, was taken up for final passage and adopted.

A proposed ordinance prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the City of Glendale, was referred to the committee of the whole.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of cost for improving Second street from A street to Verdugo Road, and the city attorney to prepare the necessary resolution of intention to do said work. Trustee Wilson offered resolution ordering certain work to be done on a portion of Fifth street, and the same was adopted.

Resolution changing the names of certain streets in the city was read and adopted.

"An Ordinance regulating the use of gasoline engines in the City of Glendale," was taken up and passed to third reading. Similar action was taken in regard to "An Ordinance regulating the numbering of buildings fronting on public streets in the City of Glendale."

Adjourned.

At adjourned meeting of the Board held Thursday morning, "An Ordinance establishing grades on a 'Portion of L street, a portion of Ninth street, Damasco Court, Maple street, a portion of Seventh street, a portion of A street, a portion of Glendale avenue and a portion of Sixth street,'" was passed to third reading.

Application for the position having been received from T. W. Doyle and Thos. D. Ogg, a resolution "Appointing treasurer and tax and license collector," and naming T. W. Doyle as the appointee, was adopted.

The board rescinded its action requesting the clerk to advertise for a horse for the fire department, and the matter was referred to a committee consisting of Trustees Parcher and Campbell.

A motion was adopted to the effect that the city pay property owners one-half the cost of the construction of new cement curbs when it is necessary that old ones be replaced in order to secure uniformity of grades. This applies to curbs constructed before the city grade was established.

Miss Annie L. McIntyre who has been visiting in New Brunswick for the past few weeks, returned from East Wednesday last. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Fiewelling and children who will probably spend the coming winter in Glendale.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL.

We believe that our people, generally, do not appreciate the importance which our High School has attained among similar institutions in this part of the State. A glance at the report on average attendance in some other districts will show relatively where Glendale stands. Here are the figures for last year.

Alhambra	66
Azusa	72
Covina	73
Glendale	75
San Fernando	37
South Pasadena	62
Monrovia	97
Compton	102

It will be seen that Glendale stands third, and yet the Glendale High School is housed in the cheapest building of any of the schools in the list. Our High School cost $10,000; Alhambra has a fine $40,000 building; South Pasadena has a splendid structure costing $60,000; Covina and Azusa have school buildings that are ornamental as well as useful, and even San Fernando has spent $25,000 for its High School building. Our present school building is now overcrowded, notwithstanding the conversion of the assembly chamber into a classroom. All the science work has to be done in one room, there is now a class of thirteen in chemistry and another of thirty-three in physical geography, and the results of crowding this number of pupils into one room for study and recitation can readily be imagined as unsatisfactory. As stated in last week's paper, the school opened this year with an attendance of 103, an increase of 24 over the opening day of last year.

The grounds are unfortunately small for the outdoor games which are an important feature of up-to-date High School work. (It will be remembered that fifty feet on the west side was donated to the Railroad Company, among other inducements accepted by it to build its line to Glendale avenue). The trustees have made a temporary arrangement with Mr. Stepper, who owns the block on the east side of Central Avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets, which will be used as an additional playground.

The corps of teachers for the present year gives promise of keeping up the high standard of the school. It is as follows:

George U. Moyses, principal, mathematics.
Harry L. Howe, vice principal, history, Latin.
Katherine E. Traphagen, English, grammar.
Sarah McLean, Latin, German.
Jessie A. Moore, science, mathematics.
Florence N. Magowan, science, history.
Belle N. Hall, drawing.
Mr. Howe comes from Hillsdale, Mich., where he was principal of the Hillsdale High School. Miss McLean is from Lordsburg High School. Miss Moore from Alhambra and Miss Magowan comes from Berkeley, with previous experience as a teacher in Iowa. The other teachers are known for their good work of last year.

GLENDALE, CAL., SEPTEMBER 14, 1907

Joaquin Miller sold the use of his name to the Examiner which publishes a two-column report of a prize fight the other night, under the name of the poet. Perhaps Joaquin wrote it. He is a poet beyond peradventure, but has always been something of a fakir as a reporter.

The California Voice publishes a photograph of the notorious Arlington saloon on San Pedro street, Los Angeles, showing a batch of patrons emerging from it at 9:15 p.m. August 31st.

This place is run by the notorious Tom Savage. The Voice asserts that it is a dive of the most disreputable character, which the police are claiming to have closed. We hope the Voice will keep up the good work if it is sure of the facts as stated.

Great Britain's Dilemma

After having had a good deal to say in criticism of the inability of the United States to protect foreigners from mob violence, the course of the press of Great Britain over the British Columbia race riots, will be watched with interest.

A Bad "Earmark"

The "Fable" which lightly graces the columns of our more or less esteemed contemporary in its last issue, has doubtless "some earmarks of truth," but it also has a bad earmark of the other thing to start out with.

In the voting for a city hall in Glendale, there were 162 votes cast in favor of the bonds and 121 against. Does this indicate that "the people" or a majority of them did not want the hall? Nay, verily, dear fabulist: try it again and don't assume too readily that a few vigorous and noisy "outs" constitute "the people."

Wilmington is threatened with a boycott by the Pacific Electric railway because it was deprived of the franchise granting it control of West Basin water front. The people wanted a little say in the matter and the railway management threatens to give them the go by because they saw fit to assert their individuality. —Norwalk Call.

You are wrong, Bro. Truitt. When the Pacific Electric wants anything, it ought to have it. Furthermore, it ought to be presented to the traffic manager by a delegation of "prominent citizens" carrying the thing on a silver salver. By doing the act thus properly the citizens will avoid being placed in the category of "kickers" and will be privileged to enjoy that harmony which exists when the lion and the lamb lie down together, with only the lion visible.

The New County Assessor

In appointing Mr. Hopkins to the place made vacant by the death of Assessor Ben Ward, the Supervisors have shown a disposition to defer to the wishes of the people, which is very commendable. Mr. Hopkins was put in the position of chief deputy by Assessor Ward because of his fitness for the position, and that he should be advanced to the place made vacant by the death of his chief is logical and right. We doubt if anyone can fill the place of Ben Ward when it comes to a contest with corporation lawyers before a Board of Equalization, but otherwise we feel that Assessor Hopkins will carry out the good work of his predecessor.

Roosevelt at Provincetown

"There exists no more sordid and unlovely type of social development than a plutocracy, for there is a peculiar unwholesomeness in a social and governmental ideal where wealth by and of itself is held up as the greatest good. The materialism of such a view, whether it finds its expression in the life of a man who accumulates a vast fortune in ways that are repugnant to every instinct of generosity and of fair dealing, or whether it finds its expression in the rapidly useless and self-indulgent life of the inheritor of that fortune, is contemptible in the eyes of all men capable of a thrill of lofty feeling.

Where the power of the law can be wisely used to prevent or to minimize the acquisition or business employment of such wealth, and to make it pay by income or inheritance tax its proper share of the burden of government, I would invoke that power without a moment's hesitation.

"But while we can accomplish something by legislation, legislation can never be more than a part, in the general scheme of moral progress; and crude or vindictive legislation may at any time bring such progress to a halt. Certain socialistic leaders propose to redistribute the world's goods by refusing to thrift and energy and industry their proper superiority over folly and idleness and sullen envy. Such legislation would merely, in the words of the president of Columbia University, 'wreck the world's efficiency for the purpose of redistributing the world's discontent.'

"We should all of us work heart and soul for the real and permanent betterment which will lift our democratic civilization to a higher level of safety and usefulness. Such betterment can come only by the slow, steady growth of the spirit which meets a generous, but not a sentimental, justice to each man on his merits as a man, and which recognizes the fact that the highest and deepest happiness for the individual lies not in selfishness, but in service."

Fakirs

A writer in a recent number of Collier's Weekly calls attention to the fact that the Chicago American publishes at 5 o'clock a.m. an edition labeled "2 p. m." for the special use of the race track gamblers, advising its readers as to "the best bet." This on one page of the sheet, while on the editorial page is likely to be found a sermon on the evils of gambling.

We know people who read the San Francisco Examiner because of its "good editorials," altho they know that its other pages are filled with "faked news" and sensational accounts of crime and scandal which ought to bar the sheet from every respectable circle.

spectable circle. The virtuous editorials, written perhaps by able writers with national reputations, are bought and paid for. They are paid for because they are a good investment; they serve their purpose of catching the gullible portion of the public who do not object to partaking of a good article enveloped in a foul wrapper.

If the decent people of the world would stop patronizing these disseminators of falsehood and nastiness, they would either cease to exist or be forced to reform. The general public is easily gulled, and the inconsistency of the people of good intentions who do not trouble themselves to look beneath the surface of things, but are easily caught by a fluent expression of virtuous platitudes, is responsible for a large proportion of the very ills they complain of. The man with a "fad" is a bright and shining example of these gullible people of good intent. He is an easy mark for the conscienceless fakir who for any selfish motive baits the hook with some morsel of gilded virtue particularly adapted to the appetite of his prospective victim and triumphantly hauls him in.

The political fakir is one of the most common among these successful anglers. Regardless of his public record and private character, both of which may be so rank as to smell to heaven, he can be reasonably sure of a good haul if, beguiling his victims by the music of a mellifluous tongue, he baits his hook with an 'ism. The world is overcrowded with the people whose principal claim to good citizenship is good intentions. They are not as harmless as doves, because they lack a portion of the wisdom of serpents.

EDITOR NEWS:—A personal controversy through the public press is foreign to my desire, and I regret the necessity that prompts me to ask the privilege of using your worthy paper for such a purpose. But since you have seen fit to permit the publication of an article over the signature of M. Z. Rensburgh, in which the morality of my place of business was brought into question and myself and friends held up to public view as probable violators of law, I believe that the unbiased public mind will pardon me if in the spirit of justice I ask for a freeman's right of defense.

It is not my purpose at this time to discuss the merits and demerits of the pool room question, but rather to offer a defense against the unwarranted and unjust assault upon myself, my business and my friends.

Mr. Rensburgh says, "A young man who has seen much of the world, mostly from the under side, tells me that he never saw a pool room that was free from gambling, and he has visited hundreds of them." "I am told that the one in Glendale is to be a simon pure, blown-in-the-bottle variety, run along strictly moral and uplifting lines—no gambling, no "booze," no profanity, etc. It takes a moral man, a sober man, an unselfish man and an unusually all-around good man to run such an institution which has for its implements those instruments which are sometimes used for wrong doing," and concludes by saying, "Mr. Editor, do you know, does the city marshal know, does the board of trustees know positively, that gambling has not already been done in this pool room since it went into business?"

If Mr. Rensburgh desires to pose as a moral teacher and a Christian gentleman, would it not have been more consistent for him to show a spirit of fairness, a disposition to do justice to others, rather than by unwarranted inference attempt to establish in the minds of others that which he does not know to be, and in fact is not true? In other words, was he constrained by the love of Christ and his moral code to needlessly and unjustly defame the character of his fellow man? Did he make those false and sarcastic inferences, as a Christian of as a gentleman? Did he say those words to illustrate the refining influence upon man of the morality and religion he teaches? And what would Mr. Rensburgh think if I should stoop to his level and retort by asking through the public press, "Mr. Editor, do you know, does the city marshal know, and do the board of trustees know, positively, that gambling has not already been done" on Mr. Rensburgh's premises? And is it not true that on his premises there are instruments that are more frequently used for wrong doing than is the pool table?

Like yourself, Mr. Editor, I believe that reasonable and wholesome "restraint" is good. A liberal dose of it vigorously applied might have saved Mr. Rensburgh from the humiliating effect of rushing into print with such imbecile logic.

It is hard to realize how a man with mature thought can drink down with such great relish the statement of "a young man who has seen much of the world, mostly from the under side," while he insinuatingly and sarcastically doubts the word of respectable citizens, among them the editor of the News, the city marshal and the board of trustees.

Now, Mr. Editor, if Mr. Rensburgh will take a sufficient dose of his own medicine, "restraint," to enable him to quit the confidential company of the young man from the under side, you may extend to him a fraternal invitation to visit my pool room at any time of the day or night and learn the truth of its interior conduct for himself. Many of his peers have done so without material harm, and we feel confident that it will not soil his spotless robe of matchless purity washed in the gushing fountain of his own conceit. Here he can touch elbows with men who would not, by word or inference, seek to defame his character, even though his opinions be not in accord with theirs; men who can maintain their mental differences without descending to the point of intolerance; men who do not aspire to the honors(?) of the self-conceited, self-sanctified, self-imposed guardian of a moral and intellectual community. A fraternal call occasionally might "frae many a blunder free him and foolish notion."

Most respectfully yours,

L. F. HADRICH.

Mrs. Pulliam was elected vice-president.

Mr. A. P. Knight and family, who left us about two months ago with the idea of settling in Portland, Oregon, have returned to Glendale, the Northern climate proving to be detrimental to Mr. Knight's health. Altho their many friends rejoice to see the family return to Glendale, all regret that Mr. Knight's experience recently has not been beneficial to him and hope for good results from his return to the land of sunshine.

Mrs. H. H. Ainsworth of West Glendale had a curious experience last week. She boarded a Pacific Electric car at Lomita. After her arrival at Los Angeles she discovered that a five dollar gold piece was missing from her pocket book. Returning two hours later, she alighted from the car again at Lomita and began hopelessly looking for the missing coin much to her surprise however she found it quite readily where it fell in the dust of the street.

Mrs. J. C. Sherer, who has for the past several months been visiting in New England, Pennsylvania and Illinois, returned home on Wednesday. She finds California a little dusty, but says that the popular idea that the fruits and other products of the east are superior to those of California is an unadulterated fiction. The strawberries and melons that she has sampled since her return are ahead of anything found elsewhere. Railroad travel at present is tedious and marked by minor accidents of all sorts, while the telegraph service along the route between here and Chicago is practically closed to the general public, notwithstanding the assertions of the telegraph companies to the contrary.

Glendale and Its Prospects

We have no wish to draw invidious comparisons, and shall not do so, but the merits of our home town and the surrounding neighborhood will bear the closest investigation.

A gentleman whose business takes him to nearly all the towns in this part of Southern California, says that there is at the present time more building going on here and more business being done than in any other town of the same size in this part of the state.

Notwithstanding the fact that the summer is still with us and the seaside resorts are still proving attractive to a large proportion of the people, there are a great many visitors noticeable every day on our streets; and those who see Glendale for the first time admit that it is a revelation to them. They are beginning to find out also that we can raise other things than town lots. Considerable produce is sent in daily over the lines of the Pacific Electric to Los Angeles. Among the products brought in there for shipment, noticed in passing recently, are tomatoes, grapes, eggplants, sweet potatoes, melons, etc.

A visit to our groceries will show the interested observer the possibilities of our soil, as the fruits and vegetables of home production displayed there are superior to the general run of the large market near at hand.

In fact, Glendale is all right; and with the new railroad on the east side, which we believe will be completed sometime during the coming winter, we shall start in on a new era of development which we believe will double our population in, say two years, as we always are conservative!

W. C. T. U. Notes

Our regular meeting on last Friday afternoon was full of interest and we enjoyed very much the presence and help of the new members.

I take this opportunity to remind the members who have not been able to attend the last meetings, to prepare for the prize offered by the president at the October meeting. All who do not understand it will please be at our next meeting, Friday afternoon September 20th. We would like the names of all loyal temperance men on our list as honorary members. Remember that your dues remain in the home treasury and are used for home work. Let us not tax ourselves to maintain schools, libraries, Sunday schools, churches, etc., and then put a temptation shop on the most prominent street corner to influence those in the downward direction that we have been to so much expense to uplift. We need the gift of the Holy Ghost that we may have spiritual power and guidance.

The Proposed Electric Road

The committee who have the matter of bonus and rights of way in charge having worked out the first proposition successfully, are now struggling with the second. The difficulty in regard to a right of way over the Glassell property is one that was unforeseen, but the committee feel quite sure that it will be adjusted satisfactorily in a few days.

MOCK'S LATEST.

Capt. Mock took another choice collection of happy passengers on a two days' cruise last Saturday. Greater precautions than usual were taken in the selection of the crew this time, and thanks to this forethought there were no casualties. Two physicians were included in the list and each of them thought that one was enough; there was Dr. Ray Chase and Dr. R. A. Blackburn. The latter, however, did not have his diploma along and, of course, could only have practiced beyond the three-mile limit. Dr. Chase had very little chance to try his latest patent double back action stem winding stomach pump upon sea sick victims, as the passengers with that hardihood which characterizes city officials and their associates asserted vehemently in the face of all sorts of incriminating evidence, that they never felt better in their lives! Street Supt. F. R. Sinclair, City Marshal W. L. Nelson and Trustee W. A. Anderson went along to add dignity, ballast and other things to the collection. Then there was Dr. Chase's brother, Will, who will be remembered as an old-timer in Glendale. The voyagers sailed from San Pedro Saturday morning, going down the coast as far as Newport and Huntington Beach, returning to San Pedro in the evening. About 8 o'clock they sailed for Avalon.

The captain being requested to keep a lookout for a gasoline launch which had been mislaid somewhere out at sea. An hour out from San Pedro, the lights of the vessel in distress were discovered. Capt. Mock hove to or three or something else, threw out a life line and cheerily turned back toward San Pedro with the disabled craft in tow. This act of the seafaring Samaritan consumed about two hours' time and about 10 o'clock they started again for Catalina, arriving three or four hours later at Avalon, where they remained at anchor over night. The next day was joyously spent in a sail along the island end on the return to the starting point. The fish stories they tell are too fishy to bear repetition in the columns of this respectable journal. But it is said that once when Capt. Mock emerged from his quarters below and inquired of Acting Skipper Anderson, what had become of that star that he was instructed to steer by, Mr. Anderson replied that the star had been passed long ago and triumphantly pointed to it away in the rear!

It was also reported that when a collision with this same star became imminent, the acting skipper became frantically for send to put on the wheel to prevent the blamed thing from sliding so rapidly down hill. We believe, however, that these are canards inspired by jealousy. Another is to the effect that Dr. Chase, whose hand was on the tiller at one time, imagined himself holding the steering gear of his automobile and had to be brought out of his trance by his colleague, who administered the proper remedy after ascertaining according to professional etiquette that the three-mile limit had been passed.

R. G. Dun's Monthly Review of Trade Conditions for August in Southern California

Crop conditions throughout Southern California remain exceptionally good. The grain harvest has progressed this season better than for a number of years. Quality is unusually good and warehouses are filling rapidly. Beans are looking all right in all sections—the output will equal if not exceed that of last year. Sugar making is in full swing, Oxnard slicing its full capacity—2000 tons daily. Beets are small this year, but very rich in sugar content. The celery crop will be undoubtedly the largest ever harvested in Southern California and will mature fully a month earlier than in previous years.

The announcement of the agreement among the railroads to increase the freight rates $20 a car on vegetables shipped from Southern California points to eastern markets after October 1st is rousing vehement protests from growers and shippers. The grape harvest is on in earnest, the drying trays filling rapidly, and by the end of the month the wineries will be crushing at full capacity. The output will exceed that of last year by 50 per cent. Although no combination has been made the makers of sweet wine in this section are offering less per ton for grapes than last year. $12 to $14 is generally quoted.

September 15th will find the walnut gatherers active; the trees are heavily laden and indications are for a bumper crop. The Association will not set price before October 1st. The foreign crop is reported only 1/2 of normal output and it is predicted market demand will warrant an opening price of 15c. for No. 1 soft shells, other grades in proportion. The fig crop is larger than that of last year about 3500 tons. Eastern demand for Valencia oranges has continued good, very little fruit going to auctions; fair prices prevailed. The lemon market is strong in middle west markets and is holding its own in the east in competition with Sicily importations.

The cured fruit market is quiet, but there is apparent a general resumption of business in such lines as were affected by federal government ruling in regard to amount of sulphur to be used in drying. Growers and packers are still agitated over the matter, but the fact that eastern jobbers are ready to buy as heretofore has cleared the situation and led dried fruit concerns to abandon repudiation of contract talk. The few apricots still in this district are in hands of growers who are inclined to await higher prices. The quotations on peaches are a little lower. The output is proving larger than anticipated.

The raisin market is stronger as it becomes apparent that importations as they can be priced this year are not likely to hold the market down. The demand for canned fruit and vegetables is proving phenomenal. Packers report as well sold up on the 1907 pack. Stocks are badly broken and no offers are made at less than list prices. Locally, wholesale distribution is active, country collections satisfactory, city collections rather slow.

Building permits for August totalled 730 and showed only 9 per cent decline in value from August of last year. The realty market is improving. Dealers, while not looking forward to an activity equal to that of last winter, see every indication of a healthy market in both business and residence properties, with investment, not speculative interest, as a feature. Money is easier under a brisk demand.

Warren, et al., have filed with the City Clerk, their appeal, appealing from the acts and determinations of the Street Superintendent of said city accepting the work done in the improvement of said street and issuing his assessment, warrant and diagram therefor, on the grounds that said Street Superintendent in assessing and apportioning the expense of said street work, has included therein more work than the contract called for and on the further ground that said work has not been completed according to the plans and specifications therefor. A LETTER FROM AFRICA.

The following letter has just been received from Benguela, on the west coast of Africa. Miss Arnott left Palo Alto two years ago to take up her work and speaks of home as "beautiful California that I love so well." There was a personal letter, and the following one, which was copied in part from the letter sent the Woman's Board.

June 24, 1907.

My Dear Friends:

I have been in Africa nearly two years and while they tell me the first two years are the hardest in a missionary's life, still I have found a measure of blessing.

The inability to understand and speak the language well has been the only thing that has caused discouragement.

There are only four missionaries for this station, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, Miss Stimpson and myself. I was only only here seven months when Miss Stimpson left for her furlough and she is still in America. We have not heard whether she is to return this season or not. So for over a year there have only been three of us here at Kamundongo. I live in the house for teachers, but since Miss Stimpson left I have taken my meals with Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, who live nearby.

One end of our compound is walled off for the girls. At present we have three small houses, with two rooms each. In one, Nanjimbe, who is a widow, lives with her five children. Another is used for kitchens, two girls in each. These four girls live here all the time. The third is used for sleeping rooms for all the girls on the station. There are about twenty girls here, most of the time, and they are all more or less under my care. Nanjimbe, who is an earnest Christian, is a great help to me. Three of the girls are members of the church. Many of my evenings are given to them. Sometimes they sew, other evenings we have meetings or study the Sunday school lessons, or sing. Moonlight evenings they enjoy playing their games outside.

From the last of September until the first of June most of my time and strength is given to the schools. The children's school in the mornings and the school for girls and women in the later part of the afternoon. Since Miss Stimpson left Mrs. Sanders has had charge of the boys' school. I am very thankful I have the children's school, as work with them is very interesting and promising, and as I gain a better use of the language there are many ways in which I hope to improve these schools.

During last vacation I spent many afternoons in visiting and helping in two nearly outstation schools and I hope to be able to do the same this vacation. Much of the vacation time must be given to study, to writing letters long neglected, to sewing and doing the many things one is unable to do during the school year. These things keep one so busy that the days pass too quickly. The work of the Mission Press is at this station under the charge of Mrs. Sanders. The past year one thousand copies each of Genesis (first edition) and of a school primer and two thousand copies of the hymn book have been printed. Four of the boys set up the type and do the printing on a small hand machine. But Mrs. Sanders has no end of work in keeping watch over them, in reading proof and in covering the books when printed.

The attendance upon the Sunday services has been very good when we consider how the population has and is moving away. Our church, which seats over three hundred, is usually comfortably filled. Sixteen have been received during the year, giving a present membership of one hundred and seventy-six.

It would be very nice could there be three lady teachers for each station, but as it has been, there have been few years when more than two are at a station, then when there are two one has to be loaned to some station that is without. If there were three, then while one is home on furlough there would still be two, who are always needed for the station schools. These outstations present a most encouraging outlook. If one could remain in each station for a few months at a time each year, directing the teachers, helping in getting better methods established and seek out the most hopeful for the station schools, what a stream of blessing would be started for Africa's future.

So you see that young women are very much needed and I believe were there young women offering themselves to God for this needy land that the means for sending them would be supplied.

If you could only look into one of the heathen villages and see the women and children living in all their dirt and trusting in all their spirits and superstitions, without schools or any knowledge of the Savior, who died for them, I'm sure your hearts would want to have a part in giving the Bread of Life to these people who are just as dear to the Father as any one of us.

Mrs. Neipp, of Ocelleso, has been with us, and our hearts have been gladdened, as she has told of the spiritual blessings that have come to them the past months and as we read of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in different parts of the earth we long for the same blessing among us here.

Very sincerely,

NELLIE J. ARNOTT.

Kamundongo.

One Thousand Dollars

"What does all this mean?" asked Attorney Noonan of the L. A. P. R. R. Co. at the Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Trustees. "You can search me," replied Philo J. Beveridge to whom the inquiry was addressed. The franchise for an electric line up Highland Ave. was for sale. The representatives of the L. A. P. were present as expected. M. A. King of the Pasadena and San Fernando Valley, with E. S. Janes, his attorney, was also present but not expected. Bidding for the franchise was opened by the L. A. P. with an offer $50. Janes for the Pasadena raised that to $100. It was at once evident that there was something doing. Sometimes the bids advanced only the per cent required by law. Sometimes they took jumps of $100, but one gait or the other the figures grew until the L. A. P. Co. secured the franchise at $1,000 and the trustees patted themselves on the back and called themselves good fellows.

Originally the nominal reason for asking for this franchise was to quiet a claim of right of way through the center of Highland from Prospect north to the Hollywood city limits made by the L. A. P. The city contested this claim, and property owners could not improve the street until the matter was settled. The forfeit for failure to build was placed at only $100 and the expectation was that the property owners would buy the franchise simply as a protective measure. When the L. A. P. took an interest in the matter things looked different and when King bobbed up there was another change.

The action of King and Janes gives rise to more guesses. Mr. King Monday evening spoke to some of the directors of the Board of Trade of a possibility that the Pasadena people might approach Hollywood by way of the San Fernando valley and through the pass.

Some see in the determined way in which the gentlemen bid for the Highland franchise a possibility that they were trying to hold such a route open. Anyway there promises to be considerable gossip with a possibility of important results. —Citizen.

MISS KIRKBY FETED.

In honor of Miss Margaret Kirkby, whose engagement to her son, H. Clay Seaman, was announced recently, Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., entertained with an elaborately appointed luncheon, at her pretty artistic bungalow, on Tropic avenue, Saturday afternoon. The home was decorated throughout with a pretty arrangement of marguerites in compliment to the fair young bride-to-be. Graceful ferns also added to the pretty decorations.

The center of the table was graced with a large bowl, from which myriads of blossoms of marguerites peeped forth or fell gracefully over the sides of the bowl. The place cards were faintly heart-shaped cards of pretty water colors, one of which bore this inscription of sweet sentiment, "As I place this heart o'er mine, I wish to be next in line." This prophetic little heart-shaped talisman fell to the lot of Miss Francis Ayers, of Lomita Park.

Mrs. Harvey was assisted in receiving the merry coterie of friends by her daughter, Miss Kathryn Seaman. The guests who assembled to accept the hospitality of Mrs. Harvey and to honor Miss Kirkby, were Mrs. Joseph Kirkby, Miss Ayers, Miss Bernice Williams, Miss Francis Ayers, Miss Evelyn Ayers, Miss Kathryn Seaman, Miss Ola Thomas, Ocean Park; Mrs. John Lee Kirkham, Los Angeles. Following the luncheon the guests enjoyed a merry guessing contest, "The Marriage of the Flowers," in which Miss Kirkby received the first prize, a handsomely mahogany-framed list of suggestions and hints to a young husband.

MISS AYERS HONORED.

One of the most delightful social functions given the past week was the New England tea, given by Mrs. Edward Ayers, Monday afternoon, complimentary to her daughter, Miss Evalena Ayers, at her home on Glendale avenue.

Miss Ayers, who is a social favorite as well as a talented vocalist, received her guests with her mother, in a pretty rose embowered room.

The tea tables were arrayed on the lawn under a beautiful orange tree, the air being redolent with the sweet perfume of orange blossoms. The center of the table was graced by a huge bowl of pearly pink Duchess roses, with fern fronds gracefully arranged on the damask. Place cards consisted of dainty corsage bouquets of violets.

Guests included Miss Flora Chandler, Miss Margaret Kirkby, Miss Francis Erskine, Miss Freda Borthick, Miss Kathryn Seaman, Blanche Davenport, Miss Maude Moore, Miss Ruby Borthick, Miss Fannie Marple, Miss E. K. Daniels, Miss Anna McDonald, Compton; Miss Ethel Griffith and Mrs. John Lee Kirkham, Los Angeles.

FIVE HUNDRED CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson entertained members of the Five Hundred club, at their home, Saturday evening, complimentary to Mr. Clark G. Wilkinson, who left Wednesday evening on an extended Eastern trip.

As C. G. Wilkinson and Charles Jennings departed Wednesday evening on a three months' visit throughout the East, a coterie of their friends went to Los Angeles to bid them a safe journey and later attended the Orpheum. The party numbered Mrs. C. G. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Bullis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stealman, Mrs. Hartie Brewster and Charlie Wilkinson.

CAMPERS' RETURN.

A happy party of campers and hunters returned the latter part of the week from a two months' camping and hunting expedition at Willow Glen Springs, near Elizabeth Lake. The two months were most pleasantly spent in hunting and fishing, as the camping place selected was in the region where game and trout abounded.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter, Miss Belle Hunter, Miss Nellie Maitland, Messrs. Charles Hunter, E. J. O'Connell and Edward Hunter.

TWO SUNBEAMS.

Of the many happy-faced and cheery-voiced visitors who call daily at "Palm Villa" to visit Miss Emma Hagerty and assist her to while away the long hours and alleviate her sufferings in a measure, there were none who called the first of the week who left a brighter ray of sunshine than Miss Evelyn Ryan and Miss Bernice Williams, of Glendale. Such sweet-faced visitors are always welcome and cheerful to the "shut ins." They gather up the sunbeams and diffuse them where they will illuminate the way of those less fortunate.

N. P. BANKS ENTERTAINMENT.

The brilliant and versatile Rule D. Mecke, of Los Angeles, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., will give an entertainment at G. A. R. hall, Friday evening, September 20th, for the benefit of N. P. Woman's Relief Corps.

Mrs. Mecke is not only a dialect artist, but a dramatic reader, monologist and ventriloquist and comes with the highest endorsements of the press as a most superior entertainer.

Mrs. Mecke will be assisted by Miss Anna Augsburger, who will render several musical numbers. General admission, 25 cents, children 15 cents. Program begins at 8 o'clock.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

A day of great interest, Sabbath, September 15, being one year since our church was dedicated by Dr. McIntyre, being Decision day also. We are hoping that many will start the new and better life. Rev. Geo. R. Graff will preach the sermon and make an earnest call to the Christian life.

Baptism and reception of members will also be attended to. Any parents desiring baptism for their children will present them at the altar of the church at the opening of the service. The Tuesday evening prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Musser, was fairly well attended and deep interest manifested.

The annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. met with Mrs. D. F. Hendershott on Tuesday afternoon. Reports showed that great and good work had been effected during the year, and plans for future work are large and hopeful.

The meeting of the H. M. S. will be held with Mrs. Hendershott on next Tuesday at 2:30. An earnest request is extended to all members to be in their places at the meeting.

On next Thursday evening, September 19, will be the annual election of officers and teachers for our Sabbath school. The importance of this meeting is known to all interested persons.

Old People's day, September 22nd. Carriages will be sent to bring those who are not able to walk to the church. Special honor will be bestowed upon those who are coming down toward the evening time of life.

The annual conference will meet at First Church, Los Angeles, September 25th. Great interest is felt in the coming session of the conference.

MISS WATSON FETED.

Miss Enid Watson was the fair honoree at a pretty birthday party given by her mother, Mrs. C. W. Watson, at her residence on Brand boulevard, Monday evening. After a wedding trip to San Francisco and other coast cities, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson arrived in Tropic and took possession of the new bungalow on Tenth street which the groom providently prepared for his bride.
